Strikers March on City Hall in Philadelphia

(By The Associated Press)

Striking General Electric company workers and sympathizers, driven from the streets around the Philadelphia G-E plant in a free-for-all battle with police, marched on city hall today, virtually halting traffic while they demanded an audience with Mayor Bernard Samuel.

After an hour-long parade around the city hall, during which blocked street cars ringed the building almost solidly for 20 minutes, a union sound truck announced that union delegates had gone into conference in the mayor's office and asked the crowd to stand by.

Police estimated the paraders numbered 3000 to 5000. They were led by C I O-Electrical Workers union leaders who sought to protest to the mayor what they termed "police brutality."

The flareup at the General Electric plant, one of the most violent in post-war labor troubles, resulted in injuries to a score or more and arrest of 15 on inciting to riot charges.

Three thousand marchers broke through police lines three blocks from the plant, bowling over six officers on motorcycles before 13 mounted policemen rode into their ranks and routed the men and women in the parade.

A score of persons were arrested and held for questioning. Among them was Francis White, regional organizer of the C I O.

It was the second straight day in which C I O-Electrical Workers and Sympathizers fought police enforcing an injunction prohibiting mass picketing at General Electric.

Union leaders asserted they were not violating the injunction but were conducting a march on city hall to "protest police brutality."

Acting Sheriff William J. Morrow declared he had ordered police to break up all gatherings of workers within a six-block radius of the plant, strike-bound since January 15.

After the melee, only five pickets, all women, remained on duty at the plant. Hundreds of police were in the area.

Hopes of averting a nation-wide strike March 7 of 250,000 telephone workers received a setback.

After a 14-hour conference in New York between the American Telephone and Telegraph company and the Federation of Long Line Telephone Workers ended with no settlement of the wage-hour dispute, Union President J. J. Moran said:

"We are finished. Our answer will be March 7."

As the telephone tieup loomed, there were indications of a possible dispute involving workers in the nation's coal fields.

In Washington, soft coal operators awaited the first move by John L. Lewis in attempting to win higher pay for some 400,000 of his United Mine Workers. They expect formal notification this weekend that Lewis wants to reopen his 11-month-old contract and believe the U M W president will present his actual pay and other demands on March 12. The U M W 250-man policy committee is scheduled to meet in Washington on March 11.

In the nation's longest major strike, the work stoppage by 175,000 employes at General Motors plants, estimates were made that losses to management and labor since the walkout started 100 days ago totaled more than $750,000,000.

But there were no indications of an early settlement of probably the longest and one of the costliest strikes in American industrial history.

Public transportation in Long Beach, Calif., a city of approximately 200,000, was dealt a crippling blow when 367 drivers and maintenance men of the Lang Motor. Bus company struck for higher wages.

The threatened closing of 17 Cincinnati meat plants in protest against OPA price regulations was called off following a conference between the packers and John R. Robinson Jr., Cincinnati district OPA director. The packers objected to a regulation limiting the amount they may pay for cattle in a specific period.

Opposition Developing for Additional Highway Funds

BOISE, Feb. 28 (AP)—Bills proposing $2,073,218, in post-war construction at state mental hospitals and other institutions were introduced in the state legislature today as opposition appeared to be developing over any additional funds for highway construction.

A bill presented to the house would appropriate $734,956 for construction at the state hospital north, Orofino; $601,124 for state hospital south, Blackfoot, and $322,133 for the state school and colony at Nampa.

As the special session entered its fourth day bills had not yet been introduced on several important subjects listed in Governor Arnold Williams' call.

Lacking were measures to appropriate additional highway funds, expand the state police force and carry out a vocational education program for veterans.

Several influential legislators said there was considerable opposition to additional highway funds—T. Matt Haily, state highway director, had said his "mandatory requirements" for 1946 were $960,000.

Senator George E. Donart (Dem., Washington), democratic floor leader, said: "My prediction is there won't be any appropriation to the highway department—they have plenty of funds now."

Senator James H. Young (Rep., Payette), chairman of the joint senate finance and house appropriations committee, said it was questionable if any highway funds would be made available by the special session.

Vets Program Not Ready

The vocational education program for veterans was not ready for action, although Young said his committee had under consideration two bills. He said that the committee "wants to make sure that the proposed cuts in Governor Williams' budget will not work adversely to the welfare of veterans."

Williams had deleted from his budget a state board of education request for $241,000 to activate a vocational educational school at Weiser.

Senator Victor T. Morris (Rep., Latah), a leader in veterans affairs, said he had expected the senate to provide funds to operate a vocational school at Weiser.

Republican and democrat members said they anticipated a sharp reduction in the governor's requested $342,000 to expand the state police force.

Representative B. Glavin (Rep., Twin Falls), asserted "that $340,000 could provide $600,000 in federal funds for highway construction if it was earmarked for matching purposes instead of to the state police.

"We would have a million dollars for highways—they are in such terrible condition now that you can't speed or violate the law on them anyway, so we don't need enforcement officers.

The senate quickly approved today and sent to the house five bills. They would:

Amend state laws to permit apportionment of state and county school funds during the 1945-46 school year, where schools were closed to furnish agricultural labor.

Amend a state law to enable a war service attorney to represent persons charged with being insane.

Appropriate $8025 to the bureau of aeronautics to employ personnel to inspect airfield sites.

Appropriate $9600 to district courts for the payment of wage and salary raises provided by the last legislature.

Appropriate $76,579 to the state tax

Germans to be 'Cave Dwellers'

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

FRANKFURT, Germany, Feb. 28 —It would be easy for the traveler in Germany to lose his perspective of the reich's true position, because the terrific devastation wrought in cities across the whole face of the land by allied bombing tends to obscure everything else.

It's hard to believe that this unprecedented devastation isn't a mortal blow. You almost distrust your eyes when they tell you that thousands of people are scurrying about and making their homes among the ruins.

But this destruction isn't a mortal blow, although it may be called the knockout blow. It isn't even the paramount problem of rehabilitation, as I see the picture. Houses aren't everything.

More important than plush chairs and bay windows is food. And that is the number one problem in Germany at the moment.

Interlocked with the food, of course, are transport and fuel. .

The American military government in this zone, and the other three allied occupation authorities, are having to proceed with rehabilitation on the basis of top priorities. Reconstruction of Germany's ruined cities is not the top priority.

Even when reconstruction becomes possible, it will take many years to rebuild any of the destroyed cities. This column already has reported that experts estimate it will require as long as 20 years even to clear out the rubble in places like Berlin and Aachen, to say nothing of rebuilding. Thus for a long time to come thousands upon thousands of city folk will be cave dwellers.

The National Whirligig

(By RAY TUCKER)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28.—Robert E. Hannegan may soon become a national chairman because reft of both a presidential and vice presidential candidate for the critical election of 1948. Despite the expected denials, President Truman has told friends that he does not want to run for office again.

He has not said flatly that he will not be a candidate or that he will refuse the nomination, which is his if he wants it. His sense of party loyalty will force him to be the standard-bearer, especially as a walkout by him would be interpreted as an admission of failure or weakness. In sticking by "Ed" Pauley and in other ways, Mr. Truman has demonstrated that he is a regular organization man.

* * *

BALKS Moreover, t he president has had his Missouri fur rubbed the wrong way since he hinted that he might retire at the end of his present term. He regards the Ickes resignation and denunciation as a personal and political challenge.

He has heard, of course, that Henry A. Wallace may soon quit the cabinet and join with the former secretary of the interior, Philip Murray, Sidney Hillman and Roosevelt new dealers in a movement to name a more progressive type of man as the Democrats' nominee two years hence.

Mr. Truman is in a fighting mood at the moment. And, despite his seeming humility and modesty, he can be stubborn, belligerent and pugnacious. He has what might be called a "split personality," as his subordinates are beginning to recognize.

He will compromise and take a middle-of-the-road course to a certain extent. But, like a Missouri mule, there comes a time when he balks up and balks. That time has now come.

* * *

SECOND Hannegan believes that he can "handle" Mr. Truman, and he has no doubt that "the boss" will run again. His principal concern at the moment is the selection of a running mate for the man from Missouri. He admits that as of today there is no one who fits into the second-place picture from the standpoint of geography, publicity build-up or politics.

With a Missouri man heading the ticket, the No. 2 choice should come from the northeast section of the country. But there is not a governor

Seek World Ban In Conscription

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28 (AP)—Congress heard opposition today to peace-time military training, a stringent strike control bill and the O P A.

Before the house military committee, Senator Capper (Rep., Kan.) and representatives of two educational organizations spoke for an international ban on universal military training in preference to peace-time training for America.

Before a senate subcommittee, Charles A. Connon of the American Cotton Textile Manufacturers association said "arrogant ,high-handed and short-sighted" O P A policies were to blame for a shortage of cotton clothing.

The senate labor committee heard Chairman Paul M. Herzog of the national labor relations board declare that the Case strike-control measure and the labor relations act impinged upon one another at points. Where they do, he said, enactment of the Case bill "may well lead to more difficulties than it will solve."

New York—Or Bust!

Former cowboy and 13th Regiment Cavalryman Dave Satterwhite is going to New York on what he says is the most dependable transportation—his six-year-old mare, June. Shown above at his starting point, Long Beach, Calif., Satterwhite hopes the coast-to-coast jaunt will take no more than 65 days.

Annual Red Cross Drive for Funds To Get Under Way in County Tomorrow

The annual Red Cross drive in Shoshone county will get under way tomorrow, and it is hoped to "clean it up" in two weeks, S. H. English, Wallace, county drive chairman, announced today.

Quotas have been assigned to all districts and most of the district chairmen have been named, English said, adding that the county quota this year is $9200.

This compares, he said, with a quota of $19,300 last year.

Although the quota is smaller, English said, it will be just as difficult of attainment as last year, and he urged that individuals be as generous in their contributions this year as they were last year, when the count went "over the top" in the drive.

The quota for the Wallace, Silverton, Woodland Park area is $3000, he said. Dr. N. J. Jacobson is chairman for Wallace; Mrs. Ted Young for Silverton and Mrs. Jack McInnis for Woodland Park.

Members of the Wallace Junior Chamber of Commerce will conduct the solicitation in the business district here and ladies will have charge of the drive in the residential district in Wallace.

Following are the chairmen for other districts in the county:

Kellogg, E. F. Bunnell; Mullan, A. L. Dean; Osburn, Lloyd Gilger; Burke, Phil Lindstrom; Avery, no chairman named yet; Black Cloud, Mrs. Alex Pugh; Calder, W. George Moody; Clarkia, no chairman named yet; Duthie, R. D. Delaney; Eagle, Mrs. A. Bubb; Elk Creek, no chairman named yet; Gem, Mrs. J. M. Simpson; Murray, Mrs. Hanson McPhee. Paul Jessup will have charge of the drive at various mines and large industries.

English said the funds raised in the drive will make possible the continuation of services to veterans, hospitalized soldiers and sailors and occupation troops as well as community health, educational and disaster relief programs.

Racing Bill May Die In Committee

BOISE, Feb. 28. (AP)—The parimutuel betting measure introduced in the opening hours of the special session of the 28th Idaho legislature "may die" in the house committee on revenue and taxation, some legislators predicted today.

Representative A. R. McCabe (dem., Benewah), committee chairman, said "the committee is frowning on revenue measures," but declined to predict action on the race bill.

Governor Arnold Williams earlier had told reporters the measure was not sponsored by his administration and that he had not intended to have revenue measures to be introduced at the special session.

Representative Robert H. Mills (Rep., Boise), sponsor of the bill, estimated its revenue to the state at $1,000,000 annually from a 5 per cent tax on horse race bets.

Eagles Observe 46th Anniversary

Thirty-one candidates were initiated last night at a meeting of Wallace aerie No. 54 observing the 46th anniversary of the local group. The present aerie membership is 611.

Last night's meeting also noted the 79th birthday of Otto Nicolai, charter member, and he reviewed the history of the aerie since its organization February 16, 1900.

A. L. Clifford, president of Wardner aerie, Kellogg, and past state president, gave the principal address. He stressed the importance to the local aerie of the month of February. He also called attention to the principles of the order, including patriotism, loyalty, justice and Americanism.

3000 Killed On Highways In January

CHICAGO, Feb. 28. (AP)—Three thousand persons were killed in traffic accidents in the country in January and the National Safety Council predicted a possible total of 36,000 fatalities in 1946 on the basis of last month's toll.

Last month's total was 49 per cent more than reported in January, 1945, when gas rationing still was in effect, and it was the third most deadly January in the history of motor vehicle travel in the United States.

TO WITHDRAW TROOPS

LONDON, Feb. 28. (AP)—A Reuters dispatch from New Delhi today quoted General Sir Claude Auchinleck, British commander-in-chief in India, as saying the withdrawal of Indian troops from strife-torn Indonesia would begin tomorrow.

Asks People To Share Home With Veterans

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28 (AP)—President Truman called upon the people of the nation today to share their houses with homeless veterans to help relieve the acute housing shortage.

The president, in a statement, endorsed "most heartily" a program calling for organization of housing committees in every church and synagogue neighborhood.

HUNGARIAN EXECUTED

BUDAPEST, Feb. 28 (AP)—Bela Imredy, former Hungarian premier and finance minister, died before a four-man firing squad today. He was convicted last November of war crimes and anti-Jewish acts.

STOLEN CAR FOUND

A car stolen from Harold Fuller, Wallace, early yesterday morning was found abandoned last evening in Woodland Park.

Solons Endorse Position Taken By Vandenberg

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28 (AP)—The senate lined up today behind the stand of Senator Vandenberg, (Rep., Mich) that the United States take a firm line in dealing with Soviet Russia on controversial global problems.

The backing was unofficial, since no legislation was involved, but Vandenberg evidently had won his colleagues' support in the formal report he made on his observations and conclusions as a delegate to the recent U N O session in London.

From democrats and republicans alike came unbroken endorsement of the way Vandenberg appraised U. S.-Soviet relations in his speech yesterday to an applauding senate.

"The situation calls for patience and good will, but not for vacillation," the Michigan senator summed up.

Vandenberg's assertion that the United States, backed by a consistent, positive foreign policy, must speak up when Russia makes her claims found colleagues apparently unanimous in their approval.

Senator Hatch (Dem., N. Mex.), a foreign relations member who is a close personal friend of President Truman, said Vandenberg "expressed my sentiments about Russia exactly."

Similarly, Senator Fullbright (Dem., Ark.), who has criticized what he said was the administration's failure to assume consistent leadership in world affairs, said he thought the Michigan senator was "absolutely correct in the essence of his statements."

Senator Brewster (Rep., Maine) interpreted the speech as a "delicate suggestion that we need to be as competent as the Russians."

"I think he was trying to tell us that the moral earnestness of the United States should have been far more vigorously asserted at London," the Maine senator declared.

Spain Closes French Border

LONDON, Feb. 28 (AP)—The Spanish government announced today that it had closed two main gateways between France and Spain more than 24 hours before the effective time of a French government order to close the French-Spanish border to trade tonight at midnight.

Anti-Franco sentiment bubbled up all over Europe ,meanwhile, in support of the French demand for a diplomatic break with Spain and for United Nations action against the Spanish regime of Generalissimo Francisco Franco, which France has termed a menace to international peace and security.

Russian Radio Commentator Michael Mihailov, speaking over the Moscow radio, urged "unconditional severance of all relations with Franco Spain by all the democratic statts," and declared that the Vatican had "prevented the Spanish problem from being solved."

In Washington, the state department said "certain American views" on the Spanish situation had been dispatched to Britain and France, but there was no official announcement of what was proposed.

However, diplomats in Washington said they believed the proposed declaration would include:

1. A new denunciation of Franco, deploring the continued existence of his regime.

2. A statement that the three governments would recognize a broadly representative interim regime in Spain if Franco were ousted.

3. A reiteration that the three countries would not meddle in Spain's domestic affairs, and that any change would have to come from the Spanish people.

To Help Here With State Tax Returns

H. E. Rullman, north Idaho field auditor for the state income tax department, will be in the courthouse starting tomorrow to assist individuals in this area with preparation of their state income tax returns. He will be here through March 15, the deadline for filing the returns.

Rullman said today persons can speed his work and also the preparation of their returns if they will do as much of the work as possible before seeing him, and if they have already made out their 1945 federal income tax returns they should bring a copy.

Nomination May Not Reach Floor

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28 (AP)—Reports persisted today that the hotly-contested nomination of Edwin W. Pauley will never reach a showdown senate vote.

One administration supporter went so far as to say he had been assured Pauley's nomination as under secretary of the navy will not reach the senate floor.

The senate naval committee meanwhile pursued its searching exploration of Pauley's background as a California oil operator and erst-while treasurer of the democratic national committee.

Pauley told reporters before the committee convened today that he is ready to make a statement rejecting suggestions that he quit the bitter fight over his nomination.

He tried time and again through a stormy committee session yesterday to read the statement, but each time he was balked by Senator Tobey (Rep., N. H.) who insisted that witnesses testify.

Urges Extension Of Price Control

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28. (AP)—Ralph E. Flanders, representing the Committee for Economic Development, told congress today price controls should be extended for another year but that business cannot live with OPA "in its present form" for that long.

Appearing before the house banking committee, now considering a bill to prolong OPA's life for another year, he said that price control should be "terminated finally and completely, except for rent controls, in the spring of 1947."

"I urge both the temporary extension and definite termination of price control," he explained. "These are equally important—the temporary extension to avoid inflation, the prompt and definite termination to restore free markets.

"I do not think that business can live with price control in its present form for another year. We must modify it so that it can live and be lived with. It should be liberalized and streamlined to reduce delays, inequities and obstacles to production."

Gyros Hear Account Of Okinawa Typhoon

A brief account of the typhoon which struck Okinawa last September, during which the wind velocity reached 150 miles per hour, killing more than 200 Americans and "beaching" 150 ships, was given at the Wallace Gyro club luncheon meeting this noon by Orville Scharbach, discharged sailor, who was a guest at the luncheon. The wind destroyed nine-tenths of the American installations on the island, Scharbach said.

Emil Neyman, Spokane, was also a guest at the luncheon, which was devoted to a preliminary discussion of plans for the Gyro club's annual Lead Creek Derby this summer.

Legion 'Incensed' At Governor Williams

MOSCOW, Feb. 28 (AP)—American Legion members of Moscow today said they were "incensed" and "impatient" with Governor Arnold Williams for striking out of requested appropriation measures before the special legislative session at Boise a $174,185 item to assure emergency housing for war veterans attending the University of Idaho.

The governor struck the item, labeling it "landscaping" and declaring it did not come within the scope of appropriations for veterans' welfare and education as included in his special session call.

Stab Wound Fatal In Spokane Brawl

SPOKANE, Feb. 28 (AP)—Police said John Turner, 34, stabbed in the chest early yesterday in a fight, died last night.

Four men and two women who were in a house where Turner was stabbed were being held for investigation, officers said.

Asks Conviction Of Nazi Groups

NUERNBERG, Feb. 28 (AP)—Chief U .S. Prosecutor Robert H. Jackson demanded today that the international military tribunal convict on war crimes charges six indicted Nazi groups with an aggregate membership exceeding 2,000,000.

"The next war and the next pogroms will be hatched in the nests of these organizations," he said, if they escape punishment.

"It would be a greater catastrophe to acquit these organizations than it would be to acquit the entire 22 individuals," Jackson declared in opening the prosecution's argument on legal and technical questions involved in the trial of the nazi leadership corps, the reich cabinet ,the German general staff and high command, the SS, the SA and the gestapo.

Counsel for the reich cabinet told the tribunal more than 7,000,000 men —roughly one-third of the total adult male population of Germany—would be outlawed as criminals if the six organizations were convicted.

NEW YORK, Feb. 28. (AP)—A number of stocks managed to negotiate modest forward moves in today's market although many leaders drifted indifferently to lower territory.

Dealings reverted to sluggishness after a moderately active opening and transfers of around 1,200,000 were among the smallest for a full session this year. While scattered improvement appeared in the final hour, losses and gains of fractions to a point or more were well distributed near the close.

WAR TROPHY GUNS SHOULD BE REGISTERED

Pictured above are some of the death-dealing weapons used by world powers in World war II. These machine guns are in the possession of the alcohol tax unit of the U. S. treasury department, 615 Idaho building, Boise, where they are being properly registered and rendered unserviceable before being returned to their owners.

All guns of the full automatic type, pistol, machine guns, and submachine guns, or any type of gun from which a number of shots may be discharged by one continuous pull of the trigger, are machine guns. Persons having in their possession unregistered firearms of this type, as well as silencers, mufflers, sawed-off shotguns and rifles, should immediately contact Fred H. Chase, investigator-in-charge of the Alcohol tax unit, 615 Idaho building, telephone 4264, Boise, L. L. Fillmore, investigator, alcohol tax unit, marshal's office, Federal building, telephone 758, Pocatello, or Investigator J. N. Johnson, room 10, Federal building, telephone 902, Coeur d'Alene.

Information and assistance will be given as to registering the guns described above, and as to rendering machine guns unserviceable as a matter of public safety. Information will be furnished regarding the national firearms act which prohibits the possession of unregistered guns and the transfer thereof without the payment of a $200 tax.

It is not the intent of the officers to confiscate war trophy guns, but to assist the owners to legally possess them in order that they may be immune from the provisions of law which provide a penalty of five years' inprisonment and a $2000 fine for the illegal possession and transfer of such guns.

This program should be of particular interest to all law enforcement officers as several of these guns, equipped with a flash concealer on the barrel, and which shoot 1250 time a minute, have been found in the possession of criminals who have used such guns for criminal purposes. The hazard of such guns falling into the hands of criminals can be greatly eliminated through registration and the rendering of the machine guns unserviceable.

Strikes Disturb Metal Markets

NEW YORK—Any comfort that producers and consumers of non-ferrous metals might have gained from the settlement of the labor dispute in the steel industry was nullified last week by additional disturbing labor developments within their own industry, according to E. & M. J. Metal and Mineral Markets.

For the week ending February 21, the International Union of Mine, Mill & Smelter Workers, CIO, voted to call a strike on February 25 in some 16 plants and mines of the American Smelting & Refining company. Work stoppage would further restrict the supply of both copper and lead, and sellers last week limited offerings of those metals pending further developments. Bills were introduced in congress to extend price controls and the premium price plan for another year.

Copper

Strikes and additional work stoppages that are likely to occur in the next week restricted new business in copper, even though the demand for the metal remains quite active. Should the refineries of A. S. & R. company shut down next week, the problem of supplying consumers with metal in desired shapes will become complicated. The Metals Reserve undoubtedly will be called upon to furnish additional copper.

The strike in the Utah area continues, and the refinery at Laurel Hill remains idle. The Hastings plant of Anaconda Wire & Cable closed down last week because of labor trouble.

Negotiations are in progress in reference to fixing terms for the sale of South American copper to the government. With the free market for copper rising, the new price may be somewhat higher than that paid last year.

Lead

With the demand for lead active, inspired in part by a possible stoppage of work at smelters and refineries of A. S. & R., the market last week was in a highly nervous state. News from Washington that CPA will allow mine operators who started producing after October 27, 1943, to become eligible for the same premium payments as old producers, effective February 1 this year, will not bring out much additional metal, market authorities believe.

Consumers have asked for a large tonnage of foreign lead for March delivery, but it appears doubtful whether they will obtain even one-half of the quantity requested. February allotments of foreign lead by CPA were held down to around 14,000 tons.

The Mexican situation has improved somewhat. Workers returned to work at several mines, and the Monterrey refinery, closed since the beginning of the year, resumed production February 18.

Lead sales for the week 6461 tons.

Zinc

With galvanizing operations resuming, demands for prime western zinc increased last week. Call for special high grade continued at a lively rate, but grades that enter into the production of brass are moving slowly, owing to the strike situation at brass mills.

Silver

Demand for silver remains active and the supply available is insufficient to cover the needs of consumers. The New York Official for foreign silver continued at 70¼ cents an ounce troy. London was unchanged at 44d.

Lion, Man Fight To Literal Deadlock

JOHANNESBURG. (AP)—They're telling in the Grootontein district how a 65-year-old South African farmer struggled with a lion until both fell dead.

Karl Hartmann wounded a lion that had been killing his cattle; tracked it into the bush, and fired and missed. The lion sprang on him. Hartmann's African servant hurried back to the farmhouse to telephone for help.

Police found farmer and lion lying dead side by side.

Demand for Metal To Continue Rise

Harvey S. Mudd, president of the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers, in an article on "Post-War Demand and Supply of Minerals," appearing in the January issue of Mining and Metallurgy, monthly magazine of the Institute, points out that the long-term trend of world demand for minerals cannot fail to be upward, with checks appearing only in periods of economic or political instability. He sees also hindrances in the way of further prospecting for reserves in the tax situation, which he thinks should be revamped considerably in this country.

Citing the fact that production curves of all metals have been rising for the past 200 years, Mudd says they will continue to follow that trend but will not rise so fast as heretofore. "No one will contend," he asserts, "that the past rate of increase can be maintained and it need not be, for the time arrives sooner or later in the history of an industrial country when stocks of the durable metals reach a level which might be called the saturation point, where a progressively lesser amount of new metal will meet the demand. Copper finds its way into scrap and thence into merchantable metal every 23 years, according to estimates. The use of copper scrap now accounts for about 25 per cent of our total copper consumption, according to one authority. Yet the world seems a long way from such a level and it will not come in the next generation, beyond which it is folly to speculate. If our promise of continuing demand at a rate greater rather than less has been witnessed in good years of the past is correct, the outlook for world mining is favorable and our industry can look to the future with confidence."

Commenting on the views of Elmer W. Pehrson, chief of the economics and statistics branch of the U. S. bureau of mines, who sees the U. S. as decreasing in mineral self-sufficiency in the future, and C. K. Leith, who emphasizes in his book, "World Minerals and World Peace," that interdependence for minerals is a state that no nation can escape, Mudd says:

"In production as in demand, the global viewpoint should be taken and world resources, known, indicated, and speculative, should be appraised. I would like to see this attempted in the same thorough fashion that Mr. Pehrson has followed in his study of United States reserves. On such a study should be superimposed the opinions of geologists as to the chances of major discoveries in all parts of the world where favorable formations for ore deposition occur. Widely divergent ideas would be forthcoming from the experts, depending upon their approach and state of mind."

Mudd cites certain conditions which he claims can retard or obstruct establishment of equilibrium between supply and demand. "The first," he says, "is taxation which in moderation is a necessary burden but in the present extreme forms its retarding influence upon energy and effort will become painfully apparent now that the patriotic impulse of war ceases to motivate men and women.

"What would this country be today," he asks, "if individual and corporation taxes at the rates of 1939 had been imposed in the early 80's of the last century when the country started to recover after the Civil war? Would the west have grown as it has done? Would our great transportation systems and manufacturing capacity have been created? Would we have been able to engage victoriously in two World wars to preserve our sovereignty and to curb oppression wherever it has threatened the freedom of other people? Would the mining industry have been able to supply the ores that have been needed in these conflicts? My reply to each question would be 'No' and I am certain that in that case our nation would now be only about as powerful as it was in 1898, able to defeat weak Spain, but no match for a combination of strong powers."

In conclusion, Mudd points to the need for two principal conditions to ensure a world-wide healthy mining industry: A tolerable tax burden and unimpeded opportunity to explore for mines. "Our deepest concern is, and properly should be," he says, "the economic environment which will surround the discovery, development, and production of mineral wealth. If the climate is healthy the industries will respond to any reasonable demands made upon them. If the climate is unhealthy the industries will lose their vigor and world economy will suffer."

Protest Trip To Capital Called Off

MOSCOW, Feb. 1. (AP)—A chamber of commerce delegation called off a proposed trip to Washington with the announcement that 105 family-type housing units would be transferred to University of Idaho from a Vancouver, Wash., federal project.

Thinks Veterans Will Prospect

On the assumption that many returned war veterans will try their luck at prospecting for gold and other precious minerals, Arthur Campbell, state mine inspector, said today that his annual report will contain "a miner's chart" to assist them in the location of claims.

Lode mining and placer mining are explained in detail and the various laws are set forth.

Values of the various ores also are set forth in tables in the chart.

"Prospect up the streams," advised Campbell. "For a million years these streams have prospected for you. They have carried away the light, worthless clay and sands and have left the minerals along their beds as an index to the valleys they drain."

In Campbell's opinion, the prospectors will do much to further the state's mining development.

During the war, he declared, new development has been at practical standstill as the result of a moratorium on laws requiring at least $100 a year improvement upon a claim. Campbell said that by the summer of 1947 this moratorium should be lifted in order to permit the mineral development of the state.

Legality of the moratorium pending the official cessation of hostilities was upheld by the state's attorney general, Frank Langley, in an opinion requested by Campbell, who said his office has been deluged with correspondence requesting information on the matter.

The mine inspector also disclosed receipt of a letter from Representative Compton I. White, who said that two of the best informed men in Washington, Charles R. Bradshaw, assistant chief counsel of the United States land office, and W. C. Broadgate, technical consultant to the senate committee on mines and mining, concurred with Campbell in his view as to the validity or the law until the cessation of hostilities.

White enclosed a copy of a letter in which Abe Fortas, acting secretary of the interior, mentioned in part, "Hence, under existing law, all holders of mining claims will have until July 1, 1947, for the performance of their assessment work, if the cessation of hostilities is not declared any time prior to July 1, 1946."

Fortas also mentioned in part, "it should be pointed out that holders of mining claims who are in the armed forces are exempted from the performance of assessment work by the soldiers and sailors relief act of 1940."

Chilean Government Reject Demands

SANTIAGO, Chile, Feb. 1 (AP)—The powerful leftist popular front withdrew its support from the government today following the latter's rejection of labor and leftist demands for reorganization of the cabinet.

The popular front, which put the government in power, issued a communique accusing acting President Alfredo Duhalde of "total responsibility for the present grave crisis" and charging that the existing situation "could drag the country to a catastrophe of incalculable proportions."

Earlier, the government had acceded to demands that it lift a state of siege, proclaimed Monday after several labor union members were killed in a clash with police, in return for cancellation of a nationwide strike of 300,000 workers which stalled trade and industry for 24 hours Wednesday.
